

Don't Be Caught by Surprise

Luke 12:16-21

On May 31, 1889, there was a catastrophic failure of the South Fork Dam, and the people of Johnstown, PA had little warning of the unbelievable force of water that was headed their way (2,209 died). Those who went to work at the Twin Towers on 9/11 never thought it would be their last day. The same could be said for the victims who were surprised at Pearl Harbor or Hiroshima or Nagasaki. Those traveling comfortably on the Titanic never thought they were facing an imminent death. The 226,000 victims surprised by the Indian Ocean tsunami (2004) never imagined that day would be their last.

Ron Melick writes, “On the day of your death, do you think you will wake up knowing that it is your last day? No matter how much we try to extend our lives with regular exercise, a nutritious diet, and the best medical care, our ‘last day’ will still come, and often without warning. Tragedy most often strikes unexpectedly (Eccl. 9:12). When that day comes for you, will you be ready for eternity? Do you imagine that one day you will wake up and say, ‘Today is the day I’ll die. It’s time to get right with God’? No, you wake up each day going about your normal activities, never considering the end of life.”

It is a dangerous thing for people to fail to provide for their soul’s greatest need. Jesus Christ is God’s only way of salvation, and the time to settle the matter is today (Prov. 27:1; 2 Cor. 6:2). Those of us who have embraced Christ as our Saviour need to realize that our time on this earth is very short. We know not the day of our death. May we live each day as if it were our last, redeeming the time, serving Christ, pointing others to Him!

~George Zeller: www.middletonbiblechurch.org

Don't Be Caught by Surprise

Luke 12:16-21

On May 31, 1889, there was a catastrophic failure of the South Fork Dam, and the people of Johnstown, PA had little warning of the unbelievable force of water that was headed their way (2,209 died). Those who went to work at the Twin Towers on 9/11 never thought it would be their last day. The same could be said for the victims who were surprised at Pearl Harbor or Hiroshima or Nagasaki. Those traveling comfortably on the Titanic never thought they were facing an imminent death. The 226,000 victims surprised by the Indian Ocean tsunami (2004) never imagined that day would be their last.

Ron Melick writes, “On the day of your death, do you think you will wake up knowing that it is your last day? No matter how much we try to extend our lives with regular exercise, a nutritious diet, and the best medical care, our ‘last day’ will still come, and often without warning. Tragedy most often strikes unexpectedly (Eccl. 9:12). When that day comes for you, will you be ready for eternity? Do you imagine that one day you will wake up and say, ‘Today is the day I’ll die. It’s time to get right with God’? No, you wake up each day going about your normal activities, never considering the end of life.”

It is a dangerous thing for people to fail to provide for their soul’s greatest need. Jesus Christ is God’s only way of salvation, and the time to settle the matter is today (Prov. 27:1; 2 Cor. 6:2). Those of us who have embraced Christ as our Saviour need to realize that our time on this earth is very short. We know not the day of our death. May we live each day as if it were our last, redeeming the time, serving Christ, pointing others to Him!

~George Zeller: www.middletonbiblechurch.org