

The Staggering Difference Between Evolutionism and Creation

The Futility of Compromise

There were not millions of years of pre-human history because the creation of man took place “at the beginning” (Matt. 19:4). This rules out long geological periods prior to man’s arrival on earth since man was here at the very beginning.

Evolutionary view: Man was not here at the very beginning. Instead there were millions of years which preceded the arrival of man. There were numerous geological ages that unfolded before man ever came along.

Creation view: At the very beginning man was here.

Indeed, man was made and placed on the earth just six days after the earth was created! Did dinosaurs roam the earth millions of years before man arrived? No, the land dinosaurs were created on the very same day as man, Day 6, and the water dinosaurs (sea reptiles) were created one day earlier, Day 5 (Gen. 1:21-27).

Evolutionary view: For most of earth history man was not present. Evolution teaches that the earth was formed about 4.6 billion years ago and man did not appear until about 2.8 million years ago.

My son John computed that if the age of the earth is represented by a year according to evolution, humans would have been living on it for only 5 hours and 20 minutes. Another way of looking at it, using a distance analogy, is that if the age of the earth is represented by the distance from Connecticut to San Francisco (about 3,000 miles), the time humans have supposedly been on earth would only be about 1.8 miles.

The Lord Jesus is the authority on who was here at the beginning. Why? Because He was there! “In the beginning was the Word!” In fact, He was the One who created man at the beginning. “All things were made by Him, and without Him was not any thing made that was made” (John 1:3).

The Creationist view (Biblical view): Man has been on this earth for all of earth history, minus five days. He only was absent during the first five days and then was created on Day 6.

So the evolutionary view teaches that man was not on earth for almost all of earth history; the creationist view teaches that man was on earth for almost all of earth history. You can’t have two views more different than this!

May we humbly take God at His Word in these days of rampant unbelief.
